

The Comics Test

Your task is to generate an HTML page that lists the characters from a Marvel-story.

Using the Marvel API [<http://developer.marvel.com/docs>], pick a random story featuring your favourite character (perhaps The Hulk?). Generate an HTML page with the following characteristics:

- * The story's description
- * A list of names and pictures of the characters that features in the story
- * The Marvel attribution text

We are not too fussy about the layout or design of the generated HTML page, but the HTML itself should be well-formatted.

You should supply instructions on how to install and run your project.

The result of your test should be delivered on a repository on Github, Bitbucket or similar.